Needeth—Continued

Terme of his lyve; what nedeth wordes mo?
And sayde, 'Sire, what nedeth wordes mo?
It nedeth nought to pyne yow with the corde,
Ther nedeth noon auctoritee allegge
That nedeth in oon of thise termes two,
'I trowe ther nedeth litel sermonyng
Of the remenant nedeth nat enquire.
Thou art so wys it nedeth nat thee teche,
What nedeth gretter dilatacioun?
Bitwix us two nedeth no strange fare;
of thy persone thynges that hem nedeth
the trouthe . . . nedeth nat diligently enquire,
What nedeth it of kyng Anthiochus
Ther nedeth make of this noon argument,
Him nedeth nat his colour for to dyen
Han herd, nat nedeth for to telle it moore.
'Sire,' quod this boy, 'it nedeth never a deel,
What nedeth it to sermone of it moore?
And that no wys man nedeth for to wedde,
What nedeth thee of me to enquire or spyen?
Us nedeth nat to speken but of game,
Which nedeth nat rehercen for this tyme;
Come there thee nedeth nat of me to leere,
Ne ther it nedeth nat for to be yere,
What nedeth yow diverse freres seche?
What nedeth hym that hath a parfit leche
What nedeth yow, Thomas, to maken stryf?
Nedeth namore to speken of it, seith he,
Nedeth namore for hym to go ne ryde,
Of whom it nedeth nat for to declare
And eek it nedeth nat for to devyse
What nedeth yow rehercen hire array?
Of oother harm it nedeth nat to speke,
What he answerde it nedeth nought reherce;
It nedeth nat reherce it yow namore.
It nedeth nat to yow reherce it moore.
Nat nedeth it for to reherce hem alle,—
What nedeth it his fetures to discryve,
moore than nedeth it is synne;
moore than nedeth, or when he com'th by thilke
Allas! what nedeth man thanne to been despaired,
What nedeth to shewe parcel of my payne,
Than nedeth us no wepen us for to save,
Ther nedeth me no care for to borwe,
As nedeth nat to men such craft to lere!
Withoute gilt,—me nedeth no witness
Hit nedeth not his shap yow to devyse,—
This shorte lessoun nedeth nat recorde,—
'And nedeth it yit,' quod I, 'of it nedeth of ful manye helpynges to kepyn ayenward of litel nedeth hem that cleer and renommed. For certes it nedeth nat to saie
'For-sothe,' quod sche, 'thanne nedeth ther som-what
'Yee, ther nedeth,' quod I,
bytyngne is every condicioun, it nedeth nat to tellen
hym nedeth any cleerensse of renoun,
Me nedeth here non oother art to use;
'Of Ector nedeth no thing for to telle:
It nedeth me ful sleighly for to playe!—
'Why, no, parde! What nedeth more speche?
Reherce it nedeth nought, for ye ben wise!
It nedeth me not longe thee forbeie.
'Than nedeth,' quod Deiphebus, 'hardily
It nedeth nought to preye him fend to be;
It nedeth nought his helpe more crave;
What nedeth you to tellen al the chere
It nedeth more soodeynly rescoue
It nedeth not no further for him sterte.
We wol thee not! us nedeth no day have!
I passe al that which nedeth not to seye.
It nedeth not this mater ofte stere;
As it was erst, which nedeth not devise.
Not nedeth it to you, sin they ben met,
A thousand fold: this nedeth not t'enquere,
Us nedeth for my going naught to care.
What nedeth feymed loves for to seke?
And nothyng nedeth hit parde
Hit nedeth nought eft thee to teche.
Hit nedeth nought yow for to tellen,
For in playn tixt, it nedeth nat to glose,
It nedeth nat al day thus for to endite.
It nedeth nat, it nere but los of tyme.
What nedeth yow the feste to discryve?
Of hir goodnesse; us nedeth trewely
Ther nedeth nat the galle of noon hyene,
I sey you sooth, me nedeth not to feyne;
that there nedeth no more declaracioun;
day, generally for evere. What nedeth more declara-cioun?
words that nedeth to the declaracioun.
When that hym nedeth go no nere.

As he had kidded on the newe moone. . .
 Hir chaffare was so thrifty and so newe
 These marchants han doon fraught hir shippes newe,
 What sholde us tyden of this newe lawe,
 The Kyng of Hevene with his woundes newe,
 Thy face is turned in a newe array!
 With crowne and berde al fresh and newe y-shave.
 embrace His wyf al newe, and kiste hire on hir face,
 O cursed folk, O Herodes al newe!
 Biforn this Lamb, and synge a song al newe,
 This newe Rachel brynge for his bere.
 wroken hir wronges while that they been freshe and newe';
 the cause cesseth, or whan a newe caas newe conseil; and Senec seith, "If thy adversaries to do thee a newe vileynye." a man al oonly for to do newe wronges,
 And hym forsook, and took another newe.
 For to bigynne a newe were agayn.
 The dede man, that mordred was al newe.
 O newe Scariot, newe Genyloun!
 The beautee of this floryns newe and brighte;
 Al newe and freshe at every miles ende,—
 So that ye offren, alwey newe and newe,
 For Goddes love, as chees a newe request!
 As ever was wyf syn that the world was newe;
 For hire acquyentance was nat come of newe;
 Make ye yow newe bodies thus alway
 As I wol bere away thy newe panne
 And Jankyn hath y-wonne a newe gowne.
 Were newe spoused, sittynge at the bord;
 Fro foot to heed they clothed han al newe.
 I seye that to this newe markysesse
 My newe wyf is comynge by the weye.
 And of youre newe wyf God of his grace
 Love is nocht oold as whan that it is newe!
 As women been, but it be falle of newe!
 Was kouth eek that a newe markysesse
 Delitynge ever in rumbul that is newe;
 To han a newe lady of hir toun.
 For he was shawe al newe in his manere.
 And women have repreve of yow ay newe.
 First whan his sighte is newe come ageyn,
 His newe love, and al his subtiltee,
 Out of the ground, and make salves newe
 But sodeynly bigonne revel newe,
 Nay, that were thyng y-fallen al of newe.
 Lo, thus seith Arnold of the Newe-Toun,
 My sone, be war, and be noon auctour newe.
 synful lyf, he may nat bigynne the newe elene lif;
 dooth synge thilke newe Frenshe song,
 or any annoy. These been the newe shepherdes
 a knyght, whan he is newe dubbed,
 For by the figures new al ken,
 And love hir alwey freshe newe,
 Our joye was ever y-liche newe,
 But yet encreseth this wonder newe,
 As any metal that is forged newe,
 And saw another lady, proud and newe,
 His herte is elleswher so newe and grene,
 His newe lady holdeth him so narwe
 Alwey to oon, and chaungeth for no newe.
 Ther ben non other mene weyes newe,
 To profren eft a newe assure,
 Cometh al this newe corn from yer to yere;
 Cometh al this newe science that men lere.
 to brenne Of newe flaume; and wel espyed I thenne
 Garlondes ful of freshe floures newe.
 That clepeth forth the grene leves newe;
 Right as the freshe, rede rose newe
 ther were by-fallen a newe thyng?
 fynde out newe fraudes for to accuse
 some newe thyng and unkouth.
 newe stroondes to leden marchandise into abaschid for the newe song. And the medleth to hir newe gestes drynkes that
 With newe grene, of lusty Ver the prime,
 First in the trais, ful fat and newe shorn,
 Right of her look; and gan it newe avise.
 And brende him so in sondry wise ay newe,
 No wonder is; for it no thing of newe is,
 And though my tale as now be to you newe,
 As though he sholde have led the newe daunce!
 Right for the newe cas. But whan that she
 Y-benched newe, and sounded alle the weyes,
 A Grek espye, and telteth newe thynges,
 ffor which I come telle yow newe tydynges
 With dredful chere and oft his bewis newe
 And bringe on you advocayes newe?"—
 This Pandarus gan newe his tonge afille,
 And poked evere his nece newe and newe,
 And evere mo desiren freshe newe
 And many a maydes sorwe for to newe;
 The newe joye and al the feste agayn;
 With that a fewe brighte teres newe
 And as the newe abayed nightingale

New—Continued

And fallen in a newe joye anon, . . .
 Desir al newe him brende, and lust to brede . . .
 But now I fele a newe qualite, . . .
 This tale ay was span-newe to biginne,
 And day they gonnen to despise al newe,
 Medled with pleintes newe his wo to fede,
 "The newe love out-chaseth ofte the olde,"
 And upon newe cas li' th newe avis.
 The newe love, labour or other wo, . . .
 Al freshe newe, and lat Criseyde go!
 Fro man to man, and made this tale al newe,
 And I Ryght now have founde a newe gyse
 Or finden swiche unthriftly weyes newe; . . .
 No wonder is, for it is to you newe,—
 And eft biginne his aspre peynes newe, . . .
 His newe sorwe and ek his joyes olde . . .
 And selde, 'Y-wis, whan thou art horned newe,
 For, whan thy hornes newe ginne springe,
 This Diomedes al freshe newe ayein
 Almost, y-wis, al newe was my care!
 What newe lust, what beaute, what science,
 I fele now so sharpe a newe peyne,
 My wo that everich houre encreseth newe,
 And as thise lovers don, he soughte ay newe
 To her he wrot yit ofte time al newe
 For Pandarus; and al this newe chaunce
 To feffe with your newe love, quod he,
 Boece or Troylus for to writen newe, . . .
 That every yer wolde have a newe,
 Al newe of gold another sonne;
 In stede of reste and newe thynges,
 And moo loves newe begonne,
 Som newe tydyngs for to lere, . . .
 Som newe thynges, I not what,
 A newe tydyng prevely,
 And I love it, and evere ylike newe,
 As wel in wyntyr as in somyr newe,
 I-benchede newe with turvis, frosche i-grave,
 My besy gost, that thursteth alwey newe,
 And clothede hym in grene al newe ageyn.
 That naked was, and clad it new agayne.
 And, for the newe blisful somers sake,
 Stekid al with lylve flourys newe;
 For deyntee of the newe somers sake,
 Yis, God wot, sixty bokys, olde and newe,
 That rather than they wole take a newe,
 That never yit, syn that the world was newe,
 Hath sodeynly broght in so newe a chaunce,
 To somme folke often newe thinge is swote.
 Ne coupe of golde, with floryns newe y-bette,
 With al this newe lusty folke of Troye.
 With Eneas, hir newe geste, to deele,
 This newe troyan is so in myn thought
 So priketh hire this newe joly wo.
 For wele or wo, and chaunge for no newe,
 The ymage of hir recordynge alwey newe;
 Al this conceyte his herte hath new y-take,
 Ne in hir wille she chaungede for no newe;
 And gate him there a newe barge anon,
 To newe thyng your lust is ay so kene;
 Alwey in oon to love you freshe newe,
 And deeth also, whan ye my peynes newe,
 and take a newe ascendent anon ryght
 And it with newe leves wrene.
 That it wole have a newe shroude,
 Of clothyng, er she bought hir newe,
 Depeynted newe upon the wall
 As any basyn scoured newe,
 As snowe on branche snowed newe.
 She semede lyke a rose newe
 The fite Newe-thought, y-wys.
 But white as snowe y-fallen newe.
 There sprange the vyolet al newe,
 The water is evere fresh and newe
 Blewe, yellowe, and rede that fresh and newe is.
 Heere comth to folk of newe rage,
 For grevaunce of my wounde newe,
 Of my woundes freshe and newe.
 Maad of newe and lusty thyng.
 Of shone and bootes newe and faire,
 Thanne fallst thou in a newe rage;
 Sighes and pleyntes with newe woo,
 Of colour evere yliche newe.
 Counsell I must newe y-wys.
 He wolde seyn with notes newe
 And me a newe bargayn leere,
 And hath joie of the newe spryng,
 And newe fruyt fillid with wynter tene.
 And if I hate men of newe . . .

By night or day for wisdom or folye
And next the derke nyght, the gladd morwe;
She took him faste, and seyde, 'This night thrye—
But seyde, 'Y-wis, it wol be night as faste!
But right as floures, thorough the cold of night
So longe abid, til that the night departe,
Ben redy thes to serve; and to this nyght
Wherefore I seye alwey that day and night
'Thou shalt gon over night, and that as blive,
And to Deiphebus' hous at night he wente.
Deiphebus had him preyed over night
And on a pallet at that gladd night
Have now good night, I may no longer wake;
Have now good night, and lat us bothe slepe.
And for the more part the longe night
As for to bringen to his hous som night
That if that he were missed night or day
Whan lightes is the world a night or twyne,
As for to dwell here at this night with me;
And if ye ligen wel to-night come ofte,
So thrive I, this night shal I make it wel,
'Yit, blisful Venus, this night thou m' inspire,
For sorwe of which this night shal ben his laste!
If that ye suffre him al night in this wo,
To putte his lif al night in jupartye.—
If ich al night wolde him in sorwe see
Shal putte his lif al night in jupartye
I wol my-self ben with you al this night.
And evere-mo on this night you recorde,
That night betwixen drede and sikernesse,
O blisful night, of hem so longe y-sought,
But lest this night that was to hem so dere
O night, allas, why n'ltow over us hove
'O blake night, as folk in bokes rede,
Thou rakel night! Ther God, makere of kinde,
That love and night han stole and faste y-wryen,
That hast al night the Dawing by thy side
Seide, 'Al this night so reyned it, allas,
Al night, quod he, 'hath reyn so don me wake,
Tho gan he telle him of his glade night,
Til that the night departed hem atwinne.—
And many a night they wroughte in this manere,
For with the wors at night homward they fledden.
'For al-so seur as day com'th after night,
Ayeins hir wil, unpried, day and night,
For wonder laet but nine night nevere in toun!
Thou shalt this night, som time in som manere,
Wo worth that day, and namely that night,
With you to ben al night, for to devise
'For-which my counsel is, whan it is night,
So fro this forth, I preye you, day and night,
Whan I the firste night have al this tene?
That Troilus al night for sorwe wook;
Nor ther n'as houre of al the day or night,
O paleis, whilom day that now art night,
That evere derk in torment night by night,
For-which the tenthe night if-that I faile
And every night, as he was wont to done,
The dayes more and lenger every night
Til fully passed was the ninthe night;
To stele away by night, and it bifalle
And al the night wepinge, allas, she lay.
I shal tomorwe at night, by est or west,
Yit seide he to himself upon a night,
From him for whom she morneth night and day,
A more parfit love, or it be night,
And namely that like ninthe night,
Hadde he that night: nothing to slepe him leste!
By night into the town she thenketh ride.
She com'th to-night, my lif that dorste I leve!
Or al the night they mosten bleven there.
And fer withinne the night, with many a tere,
'For th'like night I last Criseyde say,
For-which at night, in sorwe and sikis sore,
Encrensen can the wo fro day to night
And dredeles, his ire, day and night,
Whan hit was nyght, to slepe I lay,
And by nyght echoon unshette;
So sore it is a-ferid of the nyght,
For fere of nyght, so hateth she derknesse!
For derknesse of the nyght, the which she drede,
For she ne parteth, neither nyght ne day,
That never wakynge in the day or nyght
That ilke same nyght to stele awaye,
At nyght she stole away ful prevely,
This o nyght wol us lovers bothe ale!

Night—Continued

Allas, to bidde a woman goon by nyghte
Ne rubee noon that shynede by nyghte,
Thus I bygygne: It fil upon a nyght,
And shapeth him to steale away by nyghte.
For in his bedde he lyth a nyght and siketh,
Certes, quod he, 'thys nyght my fadres goete
For on a nyght sleping he let hir lye,
The false fox wil have his part at nyghte.
And all this was compassed on the nyghte
And terme y-sette to come soone at nyght
Ne shulde hire never falsen, nyght ne day,
And here-upon at nyght they mete yfere,
Go we to Rome, to nyght, and we shul se,
And in the nyght ful thefely gan he stalke,
As Theseus compleyned hym by nyghte,
And that my spirite be nyghte mote go
Is stole away out of the londe by nyghte,
The owle al nyght about the balkes wonde,
The see by nyght as any torche brende
The nyght is comen, the bride shal go to bedde.
The nyght is wasted and he felle aslep;
Now voucheth sauf this day, or hit be nyght,
to knowe the altitude of sterres by night.
thow knowe by night the altitude of the tyme of the nyght by the sterres fixe;
and eke to knowe by nyght or by day
Tho wolde I wite the same nyght fowelyng the houre of the nyght, and of the nyght, and to myn ascendent, as sterre fixe by nyght. And, more over, by the verrey tyde of the day, or of the nyght.
of the evenyng, that is verrey nyght.
orisonte is the arch of the nyght.
fro sprynge of the day unto verrey nyght day vulgar unto verrey nyght. The same quantite of the vulgar nyght.
thi lenger by day than by nyght, and som
the day with the houre unequal of the night
the houre unequal by night.
of thin Astrelaby as wel by night as by suche a tyme by day or by night, knowe by nyght. This conclusioun wol I declare the night til the sonne arise; than shal the all the nyght longe til the sonne arise. Now risith clymbeth by night. This is to seyn that as is the night of that othir, and the
In some wynters nyght whan the night is there ilike longe; and the sonne day or of the nyght, and ley thy label over the degre maist thou seen by night of eny sterre, the ferthe nyght next fowelyng, for than
That she hadde suffred day and nyght,
The tyme that passeth nyght and daye,
She hadde no thought by nyght ne day
That I this nyght ne mote it see.
That also soone as it was nyght,
My comaundementis day and nyght
And whanne the nyght is comen anon,
And walowe in woo the longe nyght;
That thee shal [seme] somtyme that nyght
And that the nyght were went away;
And chace the derknesse of the nyght,
The nyght shalt thou contene soo
Right as the derknesse of the nyght
That nyght and day from hir she stale
Whos myght growith nyght and day
From hennes forth, by nyght or day,
Which in a-wayte lyth day and nyght,
Reate that travyleth nyght and day;
The day and nyght hir to turment,
That into nyght it turneth day;
That swynkith and berith bothe day and nyght
And hyndreth hem neither nyght ne day,
And al the nyght they mynen there.
Thou wakest nyght and day for thought;
But nyght and day he wolde wake

Er that I farther in this tale pace,
This ilke Monk leet olde thynges pace,
That swich a lewed mannes wit shal pace
Therefore I passe as lightly as I may.
Thou sholdest never out of this grove pace,
And thus they passen thurgh-out the citee,
Over the whiche day they may nat pace,—
For gentyl mercy oughte to passen right.
That we may frely passen forth oure way,
Be myrie, for the flood wol passe anon,
It is wel lasse harm to lete hym pace
And, shortly of this matiere for to pace,
But I lete all his storie passen by;
Passen as dooth a shadwe upon the wal;
'But now passe over, and lat us seke aboute,
And as the child gan forby for to pace,
hath holpen me to passe many a stroong pass.
But lat us passe away fro this matere.
But I wol passe as lightly as I kan.
Passe over, for I seide it in my game.
That hym in song or wisdom myghte passe.
But natheless, passe over, is no fors;
Whan that the soule shal fro the body passe.
And surete wol I han, er that thou pace,
How that oure dayes passe in sondry wyse,
No fors of deeth, ne whan my spirit pace!

Complainte of the Deathe of Pitee

Pity—Continued

Pite that I have sought so yore ago
My purpos was to Pite to compleyne
To Pite ran I, al bespreynt with teres,
Thus am I alayn uth that Pite is deed;
For to have put to Pite as a bille;
Withoute Pite may no bille availle.
Then leve I al these vertues, sauf Pite,
Ther shal no man wite wel what Pite is.
Nowe pite that I have sought so yore agoo
Here endeth the exclamacion of the Deth of Pyte.
Thi pitee goth and haleth him ageyn.
Who, but thy-self, that art of pitee wel?
For ever in you is pitee haboundynge
To ache that wol of pitee you biscehe.
Soth is that God ne graunteth no pitee.
Compleynynge, that it pite was to here;
To have pite of folk that been in peyne;
For neither pitee, mercy, neither grace,
Wher is now al your wommanly pitee, to have pite or compassion? For and wepyn teiris for pite. Tho was commoeve the juges to han pite of hem that scholden more rightfully han pite of hem but rather worthy of pite; wel more had in pite, ben thei of whiche the folk, and have pite on schrewes.

he unclothide hym of pite of fadir;

If any drope of pite in you be,
Knowe al thy wo, al lakked hir pite!
So folweh it that that is som pite.
But I on him have mercy and pite;
So feithfully, that pite was to here;
with pite so wel repressed is
For-which this sorwful Pandar, of pite,
Yit in the feld of pite, out of peyne,
As he that pite felte on every side;
For pite of myn aspre and cruel peynal!
That hit was pitee for to here;
That hit was pitee for to here,
Have pitee of my sorwes smerte,
O, haveth of my deeth pite!
And, for she hadde of him pitee,
Yet Pitee, thurgh his stronge gentil myght,
Ne fals pitee, for vertue is the mene;
That it is pite for to rede, and routh,
But pite renneth soone in gentil herte:
Anon hire herte hath pitee of his wo,
And with that pitee, love come in also;
And thus for pitee and for gentillesse,
It is a rewthe and pitee for to here.
Ful of pitee, of trouthe, and conscience,
Mercy, lorde, have pitee in youre thought!
Nere that the goddys had of hir pite;
And be devoured, thoughte hem grete pitee.
Alas, for the myn herte hath pitee!
The goddys have hir holpen for pitee,
That of hir pitee kepte hym fro his bane.
For pite by the herte hir strengthe so,
Pitee exyled, no wyght is merciable.
Pitee, that me ne availleth not to pleyne;
Pitee, that me ne availleth not to pleyne.
Pitee, that me ne availleth not to pleyne;
For mercy, pitee, and depe affeccioun,
Why that she lefte pitee so behynde?
For, though she shewe no pitee unto me,
And wyth your pitee me som wyse avsaunce,
That nolde have had of hir pyte,
Hir herte wolde have full gret pite,
Thise vilayns arn withouten pitee,
Wommen wel ought pite to take
Of me have mercy and pitee
On me ne wolde have pite
Franchise and with hir Pite.
'That is certeyn,' seide Pite,
And haveth pite upon his peyne;
For Franchise wole and I, Pite,
Through helpe of me and of Pyte;
I have pite to sene the sorwe
I trowe he wolde have had pite.
Whanne in his herte is no pite?
Franchise shall fight and eke Pite
For certis it were gret pitee.
Han of his myscheef somme pitee,
Full of goodness and of pitee,
It is gret pite, out of drede,
A thousand tyme more pitee

Place—Continued

And in the grove, at tyme and place y-set,
The lystes shal I maken in this place,
The joys that is maken in the place
And, shortly to concluden, swich a place
Lyk to the estres of the grisly place
Al ful of chirkyng was that sory place.
Be queynt, or turned in another place.
I moot with strengthe wyne hire in the place;
Of any place, and alwey moost labourer
Is under Venus, estward in the place,
He priketh endeleng the large place,
That in the place he lay as he were deed,
Anon he was y-born out of the place,
Thries ride al the place aboute
Whan they were set, and hust was al the place,
To al that is engendrid in this place,
And er that we departen from this place
Ye konne by argumentes make a place
Lat se now if this place may suffice,
Ther was no roumer herberwe in the place.
Of his dispense, in place of pryvetee.
Than he shende alle the servants in the place.
And in swich place as thoughte hem avantage
For whan they cam from any strange place
Unto the place ther she shal arrive.
To serve and plete everich in that place,
Dame Hermengyld, constableness of that place.
This constable was no-thing lord of this place
In sighte of every body in that place!
The kyng, and many another in that place,
Wepen bothe yonge and olde in al that place,
Fro nyght to nyght in what place he had leyn;
And longe tyme dwelled she in that place,
Elles the feend me fecche out of this place! Amen.
And kepe us alle that been in this place.
That ever in oon was comynge to that place.
As I have noon, and namely in this place,
Neither a-bodde ne in noon other place—
To stoore with a place that is oures,
That in an aleye hadde a pryvee place;
To every place where she hath supposed
To every Jew that dwelte in thilke place,
That in that place after hir sone she cryde,
So loude, that all the place gan to ryngel
Now war yow, sires, and lat this man have place;
At Poperyng, in the place;
That doun he leyde him in that place
Dwellynge in this place.
In this place is a ful hevy thyng, and an heigh in siker place, yet shalw alwey do thy diligence in another place he seith that he that is seith in another place, "Do greet adversaries in pryvee place; for they shul unto hire into a pryvee place, and shewed he saith in another place that he that
Where Eliachim a preest was of that place.
And caste the place in which he sholde dye
To offren to my relikes in this place;
But myghte this gold be caried fro this place
In cariynge of the gold out of that place.
And clepe me "faire dame" in every place;
Was shapen for to be, or in what place?
And also in another, pryvee, place,
Wher that hir housbonde hidde hym in a place.
That alle the folk shal laughen in this place.
Til he his lyf hym graunted in the place,
Thy body for to yelden in this place.
He seketh every hous and every place
It was no thyng biquethe us with our place.
Or in som other place may wel be;
But for to kepe us fro that cursed place
In al the place saugh he nat a frere.
That noon of hem shal come to this place?"
Where is the nest of freres in this place?"
Upon the tormentis of this sory place,
Syk lay the goode man whos that the place is;
Toward the place ther he sholde deye,
Moore than another man hath in this place,
To seen so greet a gest come in that place;
Ne chaunge my corage to another place.
Burieth this litel body in som place
Be strong of herte, and voyde anon hir place,
For I wol gladly yelden hire my place,
My lord, ye woot that in my fadres place
And sette it in a commune market-place,
Which wolde han lat hym storven in the place,
Ther lakkest noght, only but day and place,
Ne in noon other place never-the-mo,
Beren yowre body into every place
To stroke hym with the plat in thilke place
Ther may no man out of the place it dryve
And therefore in the place they han it laft,
Ye moote nempne hym to what place also,
And in that place he wol stonde stille.
Out of that place which that I was inne.
But in a gardyn yond, at swich a place,
Til she was slayn, right in the selve place.
'And bryngheth hire to swich a place, anon.'

 that ben preyed falsly, they mote nedes gentil ben than ben preyed. For whiche ben ful I-preyed. And this is only the manere
 N'as never seyn thing to ben prayed derre,
 Of hem that me were levest preised be.
 A mayde, oon of this world the best y-preysed;
 Hem that me list y-preised be:
 Whanne she was preyed so in hire presence.
 This Eracles hath so this Jason preyed,
 That preised was of lowe and hye,
 Was preised for his curtesie,
 For so thou maist best preised be.

 I pray to God, yewe hym confusioun
 His false wyf koude hym so plesse and preye
 Was wel ny lorn, for which he gan to prey
 And to thise cherles two he gan to prey
 I pray yow hertely, telle us somewhat elles,
 Sir, sey somewhat of huntynge, I you praye.
 I pray yow that ye take it nat agrief;
 And forther-moore, I pray yow looketh wel
 Now, goode men, I pray yow herkneth alle;
 Wherefore to yow, my lord, the juge, I praye,
 I pray to God so save thy gentil cors,
 But herkneth, lordyngs, o word, I you praye,
 I pray yow that ye kisse the Pardoner;
 And Pardoner, I praye thee drawe thee neer,
 By expres word? I pray you telleth me,
 'Dame, I wolde praye yow, if yourne wyl it were,
 But yet I praye to al this compaignye,
